A Grave, Neat, Not Gaudy Our Nation on Wheels Mr. Woodin Builds Trucks Active Standard Oil

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1925, by Star Company

OLD CHINA is becoming modern, industrial by western money machinery, in China, with her labor army at twenty cents a day, will make other nations think hard about protection.

In some ways China retains the ways of the good old days, when parricide was punished by sawing the criminal alive lengthwise. General Kuo Sung Ling, fighting against General Chang captured and killed the latter's favorite general.

Now Chang captures Kuo and his wife, hiding in a cellar. He cuts off Kuo's legs, cuts of the wife's arms, and afterward, kills them. Their heads, chopped off, are hung up to decorate the grave of Chang's favorite general.

WE DO NOT understand China, she does not understand us. But we can be friendly with all Asia, and all will be well, if our Washington Rip Van Winkles wake up and build flying machines.

THIS IS A NATION ON wheels, how long will the gasoline last? What will take its place?

Twenty million two hundred thousand automobiles are in use here now. New York State comes first with 1,500,000 cars and trucks. California is second with only a third of New York's population. It has almost as many. Perfect roads, thousands of miles of them, perfection of garages, explain that.

OUT THERE, a thrifty young couple built the garage. They live in that, while building the bungalow, and then move from garage to bungalow, in time to make the first baby comfortable, then get the car, and they are off. That is the wonderful place to live, all year round.

THE AMERICAN CAR AND FOUNDRY COMPANY, whose president is William H. Woodin, a bargain at a salary of $5,000,000 a year, will now build motor buses and trucks.

This means that railroads, for which C. and F. Works, have realized, at last, that automotive equipment is destined to be a most important part of railroad equipment.

RAILROADS EVENTUALLY, will run light units, at high speed, on short headway, each going express to its destination, shortening time, saving useless load of heavy locomotives, hauling trains and heavy cars often empty half the way.

EVERYBODY WANTS the little blue bird of financial happi-

Bank Account Given to Baby of Longworth

Cincinnati, Dec. 26 (A.P.)—A PASSBOOK, crediting a substantial deposit in a Cincinnati Building & Loan Association, was presented to Speaker Nicholas Longworth's for his small daughter, Paulina, by Fred Tuke, president of the association.

The presentation took place at a luncheon given in Longworth's honor by the trustees of the Hamilton County League of Building & Loan Associations.

TRIES INFERNAL MACHINE SUICIDE

Using an infernal machine of his own construction, Frank McIntyre, formerly of Boston, tried to commit suicide in Long Island City, N. Y., yesterday, according to a dispatch from New York.

McIntyre attached two wires to a dry battery, looked up on of them to the end of a stick of dynamite and formed a circuit by touching the other end of the second wire, dispatches said.

HUB COMPOSER CHASED BY 200 KISSING MEN

Wonderful Triumph for Harling's "A Light From St. Agnes"

Satophone and Banjo Introduced at Premiere in Chicago Auditorium

Chicago, Dec. 26 (A.P.)—Opera in English enthusiasts broke all bounds today when W. Franke Harling, Boston composer, at the conclusion of the world premiere of his "A Light from St. Agnes," was pursued into the lobby of the Auditorium Theatre and kissed repeatedly.

Harling conducted his own opera, the first to introduce the saxophone and banjo, and with the Chicago Civic Opera artists received applaudits of society and the music lovers in the galleries, but the real demonstration occurred when he reached the lobby.

At least 200 men hugged and kissed him. Women were as emotional as the men, and Harling escaped them almost in a state of collapse, fleeing to his hotel room.

Woman Is Among Persons Hurt in First Snow Spell of Winter

Nine-year-old Albert Devaney of 30 Riverdale street, Brighton, was killed yesterday in one of seven Greater Boston coasting accidents.

Three other victims in the accidents are believed to be dying.

Young Devaney, son of a fireman attached to Engine 41, crashed into a rear wheel of an automobile driven by Barney Turin of 11 Harold Park, Roxbury, as the machine was proceeding through Winchester street, Brookline.

The boy, with two companions, John Burke of No. 21 Riverdale street, and Bernard Palus of No. 27 Riverdale street, had been coasting on Corey Hill and the trio were on their way home when they sped the icy driveway off Winchester street leading to garages occupied by residents nearby.

Albert took one more coast down the drive and crashed into the automobile, dying instantly. He was rushed to the Sumner Hospital, but physicians said his death had occurred when he struck the car.

Turin was held blameless.

John O'Hare, 8, of 76 Hillside street, Roxbury, is on the danger list at the City Hospital with a fractured skull and contusions of the nose.

He was coasting in Pontiac street, Roxbury, when he was struck by a truck operated by John J. Buckley of 66 Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, and owned by the Armstrong Transfer Company.

He was taken to the City Hospital in the ambulance of the Roxbury Crossing Station.

William Varocco, 4, of 12 Richfield street, narrowly escaped death when he was struck by a street car in Columbia road, Dorchester. He was out on his new sled with his uncle, Frank San Bernardo, 12, of the same address, who was dragging the sled across Columbia road.

CRUSHED BY CAR.

Frank did not see the street car until it was almost on him and then in terror he let go of the step rope and ran across the street. The car struck the sled and William was knocked under the car.

Patrolman Frank Marr dragged him out and carried him to the office of Dr. Edward F. Day, 383 Columbia road, who gave first aid. He was then taken to the City Hospital. He suffered a possible fracture of the skull and lacerated scalp.

James P. O'Donnell, 6, of 19 Stoddard street, Woburn, is in a serious condition at the Choate Memorial Hospital as a result of injuries suffered in a coasting accident in front of his home. He has possible internal injuries and possible fracture

Ruth Divorce Rumor Is Laid to 'Broadway'

Babe Ruth and his wife are perfectly happy, say their friends. When this photo was taken there certainly was no strife in the Bambino's family.

Caretaker at Babe's Sudbury Farm Says It's Just "Gossip," That's All

Into the dim "somewhere" Babe Ruth, or George Herman Ruth if you would have it formal, disappeared yesterday and the rumor of his approaching divorce, contemplated by Mrs. Ruth according to understanding, had no word from him.

Mrs. Laura Bailey, wife of the caretaker at the Babe's farm in Sudbury, declared that both the Sultan of Swat and his wife were headed back for New York—together—after a Christmas spent at the farm with Dorothy, their daughter.

The new divorce report had it that Babe and his wife had not seen each other since September, or even longer.

Mrs. L. C. Nickerson of Peterboro street, friend of Babe and Mrs. Ruth, said it was "an invention of Broadway scandal mongers."

"The Ruths are entirely happy," declared Mrs. Nickerson. "I expect Mrs. Ruth here for a visit and we are constantly in communication. If the reports of the family strife were true, I should be the first to hear about it."

WOMAN ON FIRE IS HURLED 3 STORIES

Minneapolis, Dec. 26.—One woman perished and several are suffering from slight burns and severe exposure in an apartment house fire today.

Only quick relief work by firemen saved many flat dwellers from death as fire swept through the entire three-story building in a few minutes.

Mrs. Frances Wanner, 52, was enveloped in flames and catapulted from a third story room when floors collapsed, her granddaughter, 13, told police. The temperature was 14 below.

MOTHER CLUTCHES INFANT IN DEATH

Fall River, Dec. 26.—With the smallest of her three babies clutched in her arms and the baby, fast asleep, holding a doll that Santa brought, Mrs. Regina Sultys, 38, 298 Tecumseh st., was found dead in bed early this morning. Relatives discovered her body.

Her death was said to be due to natural causes. Mrs. Sultys had been in ill health for some time. She was the mother of three small children.

DELIRIOUS, FLEES FROM HOSPITAL

With the thermometer hovering around 20 degrees at dawn yesterday, Registrar of Voters Edward J. Whalen, delirious from pneumonia, got out of a window on the first floor of the Chelsea Memorial Hospital.

He was found twenty minutes later, huddled in a nearby doorway by Patrolmen Matthew Flaherty and Thomas Rourke.

The hospital had sent out an alarm. Whalen seemed to be none the worse for his exposure. He is 36 years old, married, and lives at 34 Cottage street, Chelsea.

M'LAUGHLIN TO HEAD NEW YORK POLICE

New York, Dec. 26.—State Banking Commissioner George V. McLaughlin has accepted the post of police commissioner under the Walker administration, the Mayor-elect announced tonight.

It was made clear that McLaughlin had agreed to step in to the shoes of Commissioner Richard E. Enright in deference to appeals from both the new mayor and Governor Smith.

ARTICHOKES MUST GIVE UP THEIR SUGAR

Washington, Dec. 26.—After a conference with President Coolidge at the White House, Senator Howell, (R) Nebraska, announced today he would introduce a bill appropriating funds for the building of standards to experiment with making sugar out of artichokes. Preliminary tests, Howell said, indicated that the work can be successfully done.

THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS! STEALS TO FEED 6; FREED

Haverhill, Dec. 26.—When he told the judge that he stole to feed his wife and five babies on Christmas Day, the case against Charles T. Doyle, Dover street, was continued for 30 days to give him a chance to pay for the canned goods, candy and meat he took Friday night.

Doyle was caught after midnight Saturday in Carmack's Market in Kenoza avenue. A sack he carried was filled with canned goods, candy and meat.

Police investigated the circumstances in the Doyle home at the prisoner's plea. They found a frail little woman and five children. There was no food in the house—and none of them had eaten for two days.

A charitable organization has raised a fund for the family. The fund provided plenty of food, lots of toys and a few extra dollars. And the father who stole to feed his family was allowed to go home from jail.

Later he returned to jail and entered his cell again.

Police recommended that he be allowed to make good the amount he stole.

MINERS URGED TO GO BACK AT OLD PAY FOR 8 MONTHS

Immediate Resumption of Work Asked, Pending Outcome of Conference

SAY "THE DOOR IS OPEN"

Favor Long-Term Contract to Guard Against Future Suspensions

New York, Dec. 26.—The anthracite coal operators this afternoon launched a campaign to induce the striking miners to return to work at once—pending the outcome of the operators-miners conference here Tuesday.

The operators, through Major W. W. Inglis, chairman of their negotiating committee, told the miners that the "door is open"—that "you can go to work now at the wages fixed in the contract that expired August 31."

"We will pay these wages until next September—eight months," the proposal announced.

Inglis announced that notices advising of their proposal will be given wide distribution among the miners.

The notices read as follows:

"The door is open. You can go to work now at the wages fixed in the contract that expired August 31. We will pay these wages until next September—eight months.

"Acceptance of this proposal would in itself constitute a contract.

"While wages are coming in and the coal going out, we can arrange the terms of a new contract. The new contract—for a long term—must provide a way to bring out all the facts, prevent suspensions and adjust wages.

"But that is something we can work out with the union. The main thing is that you can go to work at once, sure of the old wages until at least eight months.

"Think it over. Talk it over among yourselves and with your leaders. Ask your friends if it is not a good proposition."

Hub Dealers Believe End of Strike Near

Boston coal men see an early end of the four months' coal strike in the announcement yesterday of the resumption of negotiations in New York next Tuesday between representatives of the striking miners and anthracite operators.

It is believed that hard coal operators will make concessions to end the strike immediately in order to stop inroads by soft coal and semi-soft coal operators who are spending thousands of dollars to educate New England in the use of their products.

Eugene C. Hultman, fuel administrator, said that "the Summer" coal barons will take advantage of a prepared railroad lobby to the public relief from exorbitant demands of coal from $9 ton to $1 a ton."

Union Official Con' Statement by Price

Hazleton, Pa., Dec. 26.—A statement issued this afternoon by sixteen non-English priests of the upper anthracite region on the sentiments of the priests in the entire hard coal territory, was made tonight in a long formal statement issued by Thomas Kennedy, international secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers.

The letter of the clergymen was made public last Wednesday night. It urged the miners and operators to resume negotiations at once, that the miners return to work and that points not agreed upon in the wage negotiations be submitted to arbitration.

The Kennedy statement opposed the arbitration proposition of the clergymen, and said that the miners were fighting for a principle and would continue to do so "until a just and satisfactory agreement is arrived at."

Judge Bruce of Malden Advises Against World Court

DANGEROUS TO TOY WITH FIRE, SAYS JURIST

Adheres Firmly to Policy of Keeping Out of Foreign Entanglements

LEAGUE ALREADY FAILURE

Endorses Campaign of Opposition Launched by Cong. Tinkham

To the head of the stalwarts rising in opposition to America's entering into the World Court Judge Frederick M. Bruce, Republican and noted lawyer of Malden, added his name and his strength yesterday.

"Having a leg in is one more dangerous against the fighter," "Enlightenment" was the call for those opposed to the World Court in a timely effort.

Judge Bruce's letter to the Boston Public Affairs Committee follows before me he made a stand against constructive affiliations with foreign powers. Both the public and the press have stated that a letter by President Coolidge, sent to the Citizens' Committee of the World Court, favoring such court, received no response. Only a great percentage of our people.

"This committee requested the use of my name. Appended is the answer I sent them:

"SHOULD KEEP OUT."

"The United States should keep out of the World Court as it kept out of the League of Nations. The wisdom of non-entry into the League of Nations must now be apparent to everyone."

The answer of Judge Bruce to the World Court Committee addressed to Lawrence D. Brooks, secretary, follows:

"Your letter of December 7, 1925, asking the use of my name in the support of the World Court, has been received and in reply I decline to be so included.

"I am a firm believer in the doctrine of no foreign entanglements.

"COURT A MISNOMER."

"The League of Nations in my opinion, is a failure in its protections and was well repudiated by the people.

"The World Court is a misnomer.

"Not even remotely could I entangle a combination of nations, composed of which is greed of new acquisition.

"Let us turn and make this country a complete unit and not by preservation of its people by producing within our borders everything necessary to maintain life in peace or war and we will not get tangled up.

"Our independence was obtained by force in 1776, preserved by force in 1861 and will be continued by force if we continue.

GIVES WARNING.

"True words were spoken by John Marshall in the Virginia Convention. So long as man has ambition and avarice will there be wars.

"Rome fell when her citizens abandoned the training camp and sought the gaming table.

"Attempted peace methods, contrary to all the teachings of history will result as nothing.

"If we are not prepared to protect our liberties, no one will respect them.

"Playing with fire is at all times dangerous."

STANDARD OIL IN THIRD BIG MERGER

New York, Dec. 26—Consummation this week of the combination of the Pacific oil trust with the standard Oil Co. of California marks the third important merger in which the Standard Oil interests have taken large producing companies and properties.

Early last August the Standard Oil Co. of England and the C. E. T. Doheny and associates control of the powerful Pan American Petroleum & Transport Co. with large producing oil fields in Mexico and western America.

XMAS GIFTS ARRIVE, BUT IT'S TOO LATE

Transports in the service of the Red Star line for the Orient, the Nanking, Captain E. J. Stewart, arrived at the Boston docks with some scientific collections from Egypt included in her cargo.

Also the steamer had some belated shipments of Christmas boxes, 20,000 bags of cement, steel rails, canned corn, sardines and general merchandise.

$450,000 COAL PLANT FOR THE B. & M. ROAD

A coal distributing plant with a capacity of 6,000 tons per eight-hour working day will shortly be built by the Boston & Maine Railroad at Mystic Wharf. The new plant will transfer coal from vessels to railroad cars or to storage and will cost about $450,000. At the outset it is expected to handle 1,500,000 tons of coal a year.

'Jesus Was a Towering Personality'

Says Rabbi Levi of Temple Israel

"Why Should Not the Faith of Jesus Have Been Jewish?" Is His Question

By MARY HUNTER WOODS.

"JESUS was the most towering personality of all history," according to Rabbi Harry Levi of the Temple Israel, Boston, commenting on the statement of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of the Free Synagogue, New York City, that "Jesus of Nazareth is not a myth."

"It is certainly a logical conclusion," adds the Jewish rabbi, "as the Jews say it is added Dr. Wise, "It is because Christians have failed to live up to Jesus' teachings."

Answers Questions.

"Is Jesus a myth? Are the teachings of Jesus those of the Jewish Elders? Will the Jews embrace Christianity?" were some of the questions asked by Rabbi Levi. He said:

"Is Jesus a myth? No, no, Strauss, Deutsch and other scholars have suggested that Jesus was invented to account for the beginning of Christianity, but they have had few followers. I myself have never believed it. No race Jews as such have accepted the theory. I never heard of it until I was past twenty.

"No figure could ever have exerted such world-wide influence without being a reality. Jesus was probably the most towering personality of all history. The very legend that have been associated with his life are witness both to his historic position and his away. If he had not been a great individual legend would never have woven such tales about him.

Anent His Teachings

"Are the teachings of Jesus those of the Jewish elders? Yes. Though he understand my reply you must distinguish between the religion of Jesus and that of historic Judaism. Christians everywhere are beginning themselves to draw a distinction between the two.

"Why should not the faith of Jesus have been Jewish? He was Jewish born, he was reared in a Jewish home and in the strictest Jewish faith. His references to the 'Kingdom of Heaven' and 'Our Father Who are in Heaven' is exactly the same as the rabbi he came not to change a jot or tittle of the law, but to change the law itself.

"His methods of preaching, of course, was wholly Jewish. He preached regularly in the synagogue. And as to the most important commandments, he stated, 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and soul and might' and 'thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' both are Jewish teachings. He has no thought of instituting a new faith. Jesus' Christianity he can not with justice be called with Paul.

"The Best Faith"

"Will Jews ever join Christianity? No. Why should they? Even Christians have by numbers all embraced Christianity. And just what is Christianity? Which form of it, I mean, might the Jew embrace? Under existing conditions the best religion by giving individual is the religion of no faith, the best faith for each person is the faith in which it was reared. We all feel that the Messianic age will dawn when we shall have one universal faith. That faith will probably represent the synthesis of all existing faiths.

"All religions being divine, each will make its contribution to this all-embracing faith. As for the Jew, he will give the Jewish contribution will be no means be ineligible."

Objects to Appearance in Film

London, Dec. 26.

THE Earl of Balfour and Mr. Lloyd George have been included with nude Greek athletes in a German physical culture film, now in the hands of a British firm of distributors, and strong protests have been made by them.

This film, which already has been exhibited in Germany, shows the Earl of Balfour on the tennis court and Mr. Lloyd George playing golf, old news pictures having been used. It also shows Mussolini on horseback, and begins with studies of Greek athletes.

MAINE MILLS CLOSED DOWN BY ICE JAMS

Worst Crisis in Thirty Years Threatens Penobscot Valley

Bangor, Me., Dec. 26.—Heavy industrial losses, with hydro-electric plants shut down and paper, pulp and woolen mills at a standstill, are the results of a series of ice jams in the Penobscot River from Bangor to Oldtown. It is the worst jam in thirty years.

Due to frequent and violent changes in temperature, with alternate freezing and thawing, the Penobscot River, the largest in New England, is choked with ice floes, and dismissings of the past week have brought but temporary relief.

The U. S. Coast Guard cutter Osage, the best ice breaker in the navy on the Atlantic coast, has failed to make any headway.

At Oldtown two paper mills and two pulp mills are operating on part time because of lack of power, while the Penobscot Chemical and Fibre Company has entirely suspended operations.

ICE CUTS OFF POWER.

The East Manufacturing Co., at South Brewer, employing 1,000 hands is closed. The situation is most acute, however, in Oldtown, where the Bangor Hydro-Electric Co. plant, which ordinarily has a 35-foot head, is now completely shut down. The ice jam, below the dam of the plant, have now risen to the top of the piers.

Only one ship has been able to push through the ice into Bangor harbor this Winter. That vessel, the ice-masted schooner Josiah A. Locke, succeeded through the aid of several tugs. The schooner is now in Boston undergoing repairs after her battle with the ice.

FEAR WATER FAMINE.

For the past week Bangor has been threatened with a water famine, a flood of back water at the pumping station clogging the intake. Only by the greatest vigilance have the Penobscot River keepers been able to keep the water flowing freely.

Efforts have already brought losses of approximately $1,000,000. State police believe an incendiary responsible.

Peter Kurtz, a violinist of Auburn, has undertaken the boy's musical training and has induced the Auburn Kiwanis Club to assist financially.

DRASTIC PROBE TO SIFT HUGE PHONE PROITS

Federal Boards Move to Expose Plan of Rate Hoisting

By LIVY S. RICHARDS.

Washington, Dec. 26—The Bell monopoly, which under arrangement has become the [illegible] institution in the [illegible] the steel trust, [illegible] prospect of drastic investigation by the Federal Trade Commission and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

It is charged of exacting exorbitant [illegible] through [illegible] contracts with subsidiaries by which it receives 4½ per cent of their gross revenue in payment of services which do not increase in the proportion that the gross revenue increase. In addition as it owns the subsidiaries this contract, critics say, is a continuing incentive to rate boosting, since every hoist means a gain at both ends.

2—It has [illegible] non-regulated West Coast service subsidiary as a [illegible] purchasing agency for its other subsidiaries whereby it imposes additional costs upon [illegible] and conceals the profits.

EXCESSIVE CHARGES.

3—Its excessive charges for depreciation, only a part of which are used in replacements, the remainder forming an immense reserve, collected once from rate payers and then used as "invested capital" as the basis for still further rate increases.

4—Padded expenses, especially by making local equipment standards higher than necessary for local use, the benefit going to the long lines or toll department, used by relatively few.

5—An inequitable division between parent and subsidiary revenue from long distance business, whereby local phone users are made to carry an undue part of toll costs.

6—The loading of capital expenses unreasonably by the sale of nine per cent. stock when bonds could be carried for five per cent. or less.

THE PUBLIC PAYS.

A connected feature to which the attention of Congress has already been called is the monopoly's growing practice of flouting State regulatory bodies and State courts by jumping at will into Federal jurisdiction.

The effect of this, it will be pointed out, has been to pyramid costs of regulation, all of which fall within rate payers or tax payers, to render State authority impotent, and to pile up excessive valuations, which phone users must carry.

Congress will be asked to take note that while it tries to hold the railroads to an average return of approximately 5½ per cent. the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, [illegible] is paying 9 per cent. dividends and earning at the rate of more than 11 per cent.

The telephone, like the railroad, is an indispensable public utility. Congress is to be asked why the telephone company, not subject to as severe competition, as the railroad, should enjoy so much higher profit than the railroad.

ACCUSED BY LABOR.

The American Federation of Labor at its recent convention in Atlantic City, accused the Bell system of being practically uncontrolled in its treatment of everybody else, and are preparing to press for effective regulation.

HUB MAN, JILTED, LEAPS TO DEATH

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 26 (A.P.)—Charles J. He died a few minutes later at a hospital. Police found a note in his pocket addressed to his mother, Mrs. Frank Smith, Roselle, Kans., saying "I vant she [illegible] life I am leading any longer."

REJECTS SCIENCE FOR OPERA CAREER

When Leonard J. Buinstein known as the world's only Left-hand singer, turned his attention to a musical career he turned his back on a scientific one. He was born [illegible] and studied medicine at the University of Dorpat. Later he finished medicine and began local study, becoming a pupil of Jean Deffeyes. In 1916 he entered [illegible] service, and for distinction as a staff officer of the Cavalry Guard in Russia was awarded the Order of St. George.

He will appear in a recital in Jordan Hall next Sunday.

Weather Man After Favor of Skaters; Snow and Ice to Remain

Having tossed down sufficient snow to coat the earth, and then having turned on the chill ice hold it, for new sleds and skates, the Weather Man last night continued gracious toward Christmas gift receivers and announced he would drop the temperature some more today.

He fixed a minimum of 12 degrees above zero for the sparkling Sunday, making alcohol necessary in radiators of standing cars; cheering the hearts of those who received fur coats and trembling the spirits of those hardy souls who wear light coats because they claim they—not the coal—are warm-blooded.

The Christmas storm was the third real "white" one of the season, but the previous snow stayed long enough to dampen sidewalks.

Present probabilities are, however, that the thin film of ice and snow will last over the week end. Yesterday's mean temperature was 19 degrees above, but the mercury crawled up just the noon hour and then commenced to drop again.

TWO ACCUSED IN $5,000 SWINDLE

Men Jailed in Cleveland Believed to Have Defrauded R. I. Women

Worcester, Dec. 26.—Two men under arrest in Cleveland for an alleged $25,000 swindling scheme are believed by police here to be the men wanted on a charge of swindling a Providence woman of $5,000 in a worthless mining stock transaction several weeks ago at the Hotel Bancroft.

The men gave the names of George Post, 72, of Albany, N. Y., and Frank Allen, 53, of New York. The Providence woman victim, whose name police refuse to divulge, reported to the Worcester police that the names of the men are identical with the ones given her when she parted with her money.

The woman police say, visited the office of District Attorney Emerson W. Baker several weeks ago and complained that she had been approached by two men in Providence and offered an alluring proposition in Idaho mining stock. She made an appointment to meet the men at the Bancroft Hotel, where she paid $5,000, receiving therefore mining stock which turned out to be of no value.

The Worcester police are preparing to ask for the extradition of the two men under arrest in Cleveland after their cases are disposed of in the Middle Western city.

SERVICE!

Mr. Palmer renders it to his customers —"REM for Coughs" renders it to him

An automobile honks outside for service! Makes no difference if it's freezing cold, snowing, blowing, raining or hailing.

Mr. Ray Palmer, employed at the Terminal Gas & Supply Co., Sullivan Square, Charlestown, Mass., leaves his warm office and dashes out to supply whatever the customer wants.

That sort of work brought Mr. Palmer a very troublesome cough recently. He had a tough time shaking it off until he tried REM,-but here's the bright side of the story:

"I have to leave the warm office at all hours to run out to the pump or give service to some passing auto," says Mr. Palmer. "I don't always take time to put on a coat so every once in a while I catch cold. Not long ago I had such a tough cough I could scarcely talk for a couple of days. My throat was all clogged up. As a rule you can hear my voice any distance but I could not speak above a whisper. I tried some different medicines but I did not get any better so I stopped at Kerner's Drug Store at Pearl & Cross Sts., and got a bottle of REM to try. It certainly loosened the phlegm and cleared up the chest and throat and eased my cough."

In this climate few of us are lucky enough to escape the usual bad-weather coughs. But though we can't escape them, we can help to get rid of them quicker. A bottle of REM has quieted many a cough.

A special ingredient in REM—effective, harmless—is not found in ordinary cough syrups. Clinging to your throat as it is swallowed, REM spreads a soothing, healing film over the sore, inflamed membranes.

No Opiates in REM. And pleasant to take.

Ask your druggist for REM—the blue package with the round orange label. And you can have your money back if you want it—but you won't!

Introductory size bottle, only 60c
Economy size, $1.00

Remember REM—forget your cough—

Lynn "Golden Rule" Workers Share With Less Fortunate

NEEDY FAMILIES ARE ADOPTED BY DALY EMPLOYES

Policy of Having Every Worker a Part Owner Proves a Success

OPENING NEW FACTORY

Double the Million-Dollar Business of 1925 Expected in 1926

EVERYBODY who followed the Golden Rule got a per cent. dividend the Millennium would come around.

Workers in the "Golden Rule Shoe Factory" at Lynn think it it almost here anyway. After twenty months' experiment in running their own establishment, under the friendly management of James M. Daly, otherwise "Golden Rule Jim," they are now occupying Factory No. 2, with 20,000 additional feet of floor space.

The secret, according to Mr. Daly, is that every employe is a part owner, and regards the Golden Rule establishment as HIS factory.

At the annual Christmas party, held at Ilsley Hall in Lynn, there was a distribution of golden profits that made every worker resolve to double business for next year.

Adopted the Needy

Employes holding no common stock were presented with a share each, and those already owners of stock were handed a dividend of $5 for each share.

In grateful appreciation of their prosperity, the workers banded together and adopted 15 needy families in Lynn with whom to share their Christmas cheer. For days preceding the holiday, they were busy collecting money, clothing, food and toys, commandeering automobiles, and distributing their bounty among those less fortunate.

Thus did the Golden Rule workers justify their name.

"Without the employes, it couldn't have been done" said "Golden Rule Jim" Daly, in reviewing the 20 months' experiment—now no longer an experiment in his estimation, but an established business success.

"The thing started when the old Cushing Shoe Co., with which I was connected, failed about two years ago. The employes got together, pooled their savings, pawned their watches, jewelry and other valuables, and managed to raise about $12,500.

"With this, they came to me, and wanted me to organize another company. I was greatly touched by their friendliness and expression of confidence, and we set to work to see what we could do.

Acquired Same Site

"With the money in hand, we tried to purchase the machinery of the Cushing Co., but the price was prohibitive, so we bought new. We acquired the same site, at No. 48 Oxford street, and opened up.

"Each employe is required to take a certain amount of stock, but is allowed to do it on an easy pay payment plan, if he prefers. If the worker has the cash, he usually prefers to buy the stock outright; if not, he can pay out of his weekly salary, according to his convenience.

"We had about 45 employes who owned some preferred stock, then so common. These are the ones to whom common stock was presented as a gift at our Christmas party. To do this, I turned in 100 shares of my stock, and Jacob Stern, our treasurer, did the same.

"Employes in Golden Rule Factory No. 2 will be required to take $100 worth of preferred stock apiece, paying 7 per cent. interest. Those who wish can purchase stock at $25 a share which is half the actual value. With the additional plant, which adjoins the present one, I expect to double the business we did last year. The past year's business totaled $1,000,000, and we are all confident of making it $2,000,000 in 1926.

75 New Employes

"In twenty months' business, we haven't lost a discount — that's enough said to show you how we have prospered."

The new plant, according to Mr. Daly, will start in with seventy-five new employes.

He expects to increase this staff to 200 within three months.

The Golden Rule Factory started in with a payroll of about $1,500. At present it is $8,500, and with the new plant running full tilt is expected to total between $18,000 and $20,000.

ACCUSED OF POSING AS EX-SENATOR'S SON

SISTERS BRIDES IN DUAL SERVICE

Double Engagement Announced at Tea in Home of Parents

Betty and Constance Bird, sisters, of Brookline, had their engagements announced simultaneously yesterday and they will be brides together.

It was at a tea given at their home, 125 Park st., Brookline, that parents of the girls, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Elston Bird, announced the double engagement.

Betty has an alliance with Henry Lee Higginson, son of Capt. A. Henry Higginson, and the former Rosamond Tudor. His grandfather was Major Henry L. Higginson, who started the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

The fiance of Constance is Lawrence White Cochrane of Hunting-ton School and Boston University, where Constance attended Art School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Warren Cochrane of Winchester and is a direct descendant of Benjamin White, one of the fourteen settlers of Brookline.

Both Betty and Constance are former students of the New England Conservatory of Music and the Academy of Speech Arts, and Betty, a coloratura soprano, is studying with a noted voice teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Bird, who formerly resided in Winchester, announced no date for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Higginson, parents of the bride, were dark blue satin and hat to match. Mrs. Judd Stewart of Colorado Springs, mother of one of bridegroom, wore gray chiffon velvet and gray hat.

A reception was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hoague in Walnut place, Brookline.

Mr. Perkins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Perkins of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, and Mr. Stewart's home is in Plainfield N. J.

VAIN SEARCH FOR WALTHAM MAN

Search yesterday by Waltham police failed to locate a married man wanted in Webster for questioning in connection with the disappearance of Louise Smolin, 22, Monday night.

According to chief Heatherman of Webster the man worked in Webster last Summer and figured in an automobile party with her and four others.

"We made diligent search for him and failed to find him," was the report of the Waltham police yesterday.

When she left home she wore a Summer coat and was hatless. She had no money, so far as her mother knew.

Evangelist Shows Girls How They Look

By Mast, Inc., Dec. 26.

THE Rev. W. P. Nicholson, an evangelist, appeared at a Pottstown meeting with his trousers tucked up to his knees and his arms and chest bare.

The men gasped as they gazed at him, and the girls giggled.

The preacher explained that he was only showing the girls their own appearance in the eyes of others when they wore low necks and sleeveless frocks.

NAME AND PHOTOS ON PARIS PARASOLS

Paris, Dec. 26.—Parasols bearing the owner's portrait painted in colors on the silk covering and her name embroidered under the picture are one of the striking novelties of the promenades of Monte Carlo this season. Simple colors for parasols are the vogue this year, and such backgrounds make the new fashion all the more distinctive and striking.

INVESTORS HIT FOR 3 MILLION IN DOW CRASH

Federal Court Statement Shows 3,500 Creditors of Hub Firm Suffer

A loss of nearly $3,000,000 must come by the nearly 3,500 creditors of the defunct C. D. Dow & Co., brokers, of 10 State street, according to the former concern's financial statement, filed yesterday in Federal Court by Charles H. Hoit and Guy B. Howe, the trustees.

The company's registration was revoked by the Public Utilities Commission on October 6 last. Last September the firm was expelled from the New York Consolidated Stock Exchange for failure to properly borrow and loan stocks.

Liabilities of the firm were yesterday listed at $3,856,000, with assets of $1,100,000. Secured creditors, who will be paid in full, will receive $400,000, leaving $700,000 for the unsecured creditors.

The company closed its doors on July 28, when creditors petitioned it into bankruptcy. They were John W. Burrower of Plymouth, N. H., who had a claim of $149,745; Clarence Siflings of Somerville, $11,824; Henry M. Sawyer of Boston, $2,868, and Joseon M. Hubbard of Boston, $1,781.

The company was granted an injunction against the New York Consolidated Stock Exchange and several New York brokers, restraining them from selling or allowing to be sold the securities loaned to them by the Dow Company. The Dow Company, through its attorney, Lowell A. Mayberry, claimed a conspiracy on the part of the New York Exchange and brokers to prevent the Dow concern from realizing the many in stocks held by those brokers.

Bartholomew A. Brickley has acted as receiver for the concern. He was permitted to sell certain stocks of the company by Judge James A. Lowell as "perishable property," stating that creditors of the company were liable to suffer losses if he was not permitted to sell the stock.

BILL MOVES STATE PRISON TO CONCORD

A bill to transfer Concord Reformatory to Long Island and Charlestown State Prison to Concord, has been prepared by Mayor Curley for the legislature. The bill would depend entirely on whether or not the inmates of the Long Island almshouse and hospital were removed to the mainland, a proposition which has been the desire of the mayor for years.

Institutions Commissioner David J. Johnson will open bids Tuesday for the first unit of the Parker Hill Chronic Hospital, at noon. An appropriation of $1,000,000 is available. It is expected that the city's hospital buildings in West Roxbury will be vacated by the Government next July, leaving those buildings for inmates at Long Island Almshouse.

FRENCH PAPER RAPS HOGGAR TREASURES

Paris, Dec. 26.—An editorial article which appeared in Le Matin today asked "what has become of the forty-six cases of rare and precious treasures which Count Byron de Prorok claims that he found near Hoggar and which he promised to the Minister of Beaux Arts?"

"Count Prorok's statue of the Libyan Venus," the paper continued, "has turned out to be worthless and the amulet treasures which he also promised have never arrived." Count Prorok returned from Africa the other day with a large store of antiquities.

Lady Mosley to Visit U. S.

London, Dec. 26.

LADY CYNTHIA MOSLEY tells me she is sailing for New York on the Majestic January 6 with her clever husband, Oswald Mosley, who is one of the stalwarts of the labor party. It is expected that Lady Cynthia will be one of the biggest successes in the United States this winter, not only because of her recent conversion to the Labor party, but also through the American connections of her deceased mother, who was Mary Leiter, of Chicago.

LITTLE XMAS WAIF WINS IN FIGHT FOR LIFE

Babe Abandoned in Cold Worcester Doorway as World Makes Merry to Recover

Worcester, Dec. 26.—Half clothed, half frozen, and nearly starved to death, a "Christmas waif" a 15-months-old baby boy, was found abandoned in a doorway here.

While other boys and girls were making merry over the gifts Santa had brought them, and prattling happily around the family Christmas tree in snug, warm homes, this little waif lay, unknown and deserted, in a doorway at 7 South Harlem st.

To him, the season of "peace on earth, good will to men" meant nothing but misery, pain and privation. The sound of Kris Kringle's bells sounding gaily as the planters trip deer pranced over the city, drowned out the sound of the little stranger's cries, until, as the Yuletide celebration grew fainter and died away, his tiny voice became powerless to utter its feeble plaint.

When found, by an unidentified passerby early this morning, the infant was nearly dead from hunger and exposure.

It was carried to the City Hospital by its rescuer, who immediately departed before his identity could be come known. Nurses and doctors began a determined fight to save the life of the abandoned baby, and later in the day reported they believed it would recover.

When found, the baby had on a few ragged woolen garments. There was no mark about any of them by which the little waif could be identified, and its name and parentage are a mystery.

While hospital attendants were engaged in ministering to its needs and giving it expert medical treatment in an effort to save its life, police were engaged in seeking to trace the person or persons who left the child to its fate. They are making systematic inquiry in the district where it was found, seeking to locate the stranger who rescued the child and took it to the hospital.

As far as known, no one was seen near the place of discovery who could be connected with the placing of the child in the doorway.

HUB'S AFFINITY DISCOVERED BY CHRIS COLUMBO, TOO!

Paris, Dec. 26 (A.P.)—A new claim to immortality has been discovered on behalf of Christopher Columbus that should redound greatly to his fame in Boston.

Columbus, among other things, discovered America and haricot beans. The former find has been a matter of common knowledge for some time; the latter discovery has just been rediscovered by Henri Leclerc, and placed before the world in an article in the Press Medicale.

Before the nineties of the Fifteenth Century, M. Leclerc says, the civilized world had munched the broad bean and the pea, but knew nothing of the haricot bean or of Boston. Then Columbus went west and found the haricot growing near Nuevitas, in Cuba, where the natives considered it a delicacy and called it "asacoli".

Incidentally he discovered America and started the train of events which led eventually to the union of Boston and beans in one of America's best known dietetic affinities.

'Nice Old Lady' Is Noted Crook, Bankers Learn

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 26.

"MAY PAULSEN," Abilene, Tex., is the real name and address of the "nice old lady" being detained here by police charged with swindling two banks out of a sum of money.

Agents of the Burns Detective Agency claim she is the possessor of seventy aliases.

The chief of police at Abilene telegraphed the woman is one of the cleverest swindlers in the country and is wanted for at least a hundred swindles in Texas alone.

She was such a "nice old lady" that the cashiers never suspected her.

WEDDING BELLS GIVE JAIL HA! HA!

Love laughed at locksmiths again yesterday when Olive Holabach, 16, a schoolgirl, and Donald Lee, 21, ex-world widower, marched out of Charles street jail to the clanging of wedding bells.

After languishing ten days in cells on a statutory charge, the youthful elopers from Niles, O., were made man and wife by Fr. Heaney, jail chaplain, at the rectory of St. Joseph's Church, West End.

It took all that time to win over the girl's father, who rushed to Boston when they were found living in Meridian street, East Boston, December 17, two days after they vanished from the home town.

The first thing they did on reaching Boston, it appears, was to apply for a marriage license. But father, when he arrived, said no, so there they were. But yesterday they weakened.

When their case was called in East Boston court, Lee told the court of the wedding. Judge Lane filled the case.

And so they were married.

HEAVY BAIL FOR 5 NABBED IN THEFT RAID

So-Called "Queen of Shoplifters," 3 Other Women and Man Accused

Four women and a man were held in heavy bail yesterday in Roxbury court where they were arraigned following their arrest in a fashionably furnished apartment on Peterboro street.

Mrs. Gertrude Barry, called by police "Queen of the shoplifters," was held in $6,00 bail charged with larceny and receiving stolen goods and conspiracy to commit larceny. John Foley, her right-hand man, was held in like bail on similar charges.

It is alleged they were engaged in organized shoplifting.

Mary Kelley of Woburn, said to be a sister of Mrs. Barry, Mildren Gomez of Northfield, Vt., and Gertrude Burns of Audubon road, Back Bay, were held in $1,500 each. The trial of the quintet was set for January 6.

Police say Foley is on parole from State prison, where he was serving a term for breaking and entering.

In the raid were recovered fur coats, silks and other valuable goods said to have been stolen from store, in Boston, Worcester, Lynn, Salem, Lowell, Malden and other cities during the past two months.

MEASLES KILL 27 IN FALL RIVER

Fall River, Dec. 26.—Fall River in the grip of the greatest epidemic of measles this city has ever seen.

The Board of Health today reported that 147 new cases of measles occurred during this week, with two deaths.

Since the latter part of October, 1001 cases of measles have been reported to the Board of Health. Of this number 27 died.

The Board of Health here reports that the after effects of cases are worse than usual, with especially bad effects upon the eyes of victims. In one case, a victim completely lost the sight of one eye as a result of the disease.

BELIEVES NEGRITO IS NATIVE OF AFRICA

New Haven, Dec. 26.—Evidence that the Negrito, mysterious inhabitant of the Philippines, came from Africa will be presented by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, president of the American Anthropological Association and curator of anthropology in the United States National Museum, in a lecture in Lampson Lyceum Monday evening.

Dr. Hrdlicka recently returned from a trip through India, Ceylon, Java, Australia and South Africa, during which he collected valuable anthropological data.

POINTS TO LOOK FOR IN BUYING A FUR COAT

There are certain important points you should look for and ask about in buying a fur coat:—

1. The genuine name of the fur. There are some fur trade names which are misleading and deceptive unless you take due caution in determining the real name. Reputable stores will give you the correct information. Ask the salesperson, but if you are doubtful make sure before you purchase.

2. Are the skins full pelts, or pieced? Full pelts cost more of course—and wear better. Very cheap fur coats are generally made of pieced skins and do not wear well.

3. Are the pelts well matched? Good appearance of a fur coat depends much upon the quality of workmanship and the skill with which the pelts are matched. In good quality coats of some furs it is very difficult sometimes to determine from the outside where the pelts are joined together.

4. Is the coat for service or for style? If a coat for rough usage and hard service is desired, do not choose such small pelts as mole, squirrel, ermine or mink. Small pelts require more stitching of course, and are more likely to give way under the severe strain of hard usage.

5. What about the color? Practically all furs are dyed, few are used in the natural color. They are dyed to the colors and shades women desire. Pelts of a darker shade in their natural color are more costly than lighter pelts; pelts that are off color or tinged are of lesser cost.

There are a few of many points to look for. The Boston Better Business Commission is working with fur dealers to eliminate misleading fur trade names, and would be glad to learn of any case in which the standards of fur advertising and selling have been violated.

RUDY'S WIFE HOLDS BABIES IDEAL CAREER

Natacha Rambova Declares Every Woman Dreams of Home and Children

By NATACHA RAMBOVA
(Mrs. Rudolph Valentino)
Written for Universal Service.

Every woman, married or single, rich or poor, and that includes the whole world, should center around the home. The idea of a home, home security, welded together by true affection, is the world's basis.

This may sound strange coming from me. This may sound somewhat inconsistent since this career I have chosen is one which requires sympathy for long, unusual hours of labor, to strive, striving and hoping and to be a success. I still regard my career first and that is the center of my dream. But this career is only a means to an end. It is a necessary thing in my life of the modern American woman. Whether her career be in the home or being a home, bringing little ones into the world, or entering the professional world.

The modern American woman has an individuality, an unusual energy.

She wants work to do. She must be busy to be happy. The greatest tragedy to her is monotony.

Now as to babies. Of course, some women will admit to me, it is their dream to make a happy home, a home where children can be cared. Motherhood and a perfect home—what a career.

100 MILLION TOLL PAID BY ALIENS

This estimate was made today by a high government official who has spent the 41 weeks since last January 1 in a careful probe of the affairs of the custodian's office with a view to prosecuting alleged wrongdoers.

The policy of management of the huge $300,000,000 trust, by which politicians and friends of the alien custodians were allowed to practically help themselves to the assets of the various properties, is regarded as the primary cause for the enormous loss.

Liquidation of going concerns in a manner resulting in losses of large amounts of money and property, forced sale of properties for less than half value, sale of stocks and bonds for much less than market value were contributing causes, it is said.

Universal Service already has unveiled specific instances of where the assets of prosperous corporations were subjected by lawyers and politicians.

Comptroller General McCarl's audit of the alien property custodian's office, undertaken at the request of President Coolidge, has uncovered additional cases of squandering of the funds.

Several of the cases involving prepared for the courts by the department of justice.

Congressional investigation of the management of the custodian's office will be sought when congress reassembles after the holidays.

CHEMIST AND SISTER DIE OF NOXIOUS GAS

New York, Dec. 26.—A noxious gas, created in a chemical experiment, is believed to have caused the death of Oscar P. Hoffman, thirty-two, a student chemist, and his sister, Selma, twenty-four, who were found lifeless today in Hoffman's room in a One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street apartment.

Police found the bodies, that of the woman on a bed and Hoffman's on the floor. On a table stood an array of test tubes, a gas burner, a crucible, flasks and retorts and vials of chemicals.

PRINCESS HELEN VLORA, the former Mrs. Frank J. Gould, who gave society a surprise when her engagement to Oscar M. Burke, New Yorker, was announced.

U. S. PRINCESS TO WED HER FOURTH

New York, Dec. 26.—A complete surprise to society was the announcement of the engagement of the Princess Helen Vlora, the former Mrs. Frank J. Gould, to Oscar M. Burke. The news came out of a clear sky and not even the closest friends of the couple had any intimation of the engagement.

With the news of the engagement, Broadway and society in general drift back to memory more than a decade. The Princess Vlora is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kelly of this city. She was first married to Frank J. Gould, the youngest son of the late Jay Gould, and after her divorce she married Ralph H. Thomas. After her second husband's death, she married Prince Nouredin Vlora, of Albania, from whom she was divorced two years ago.

The Princess Vlora has two daughters by Mr. Gould, one the Baroness de Mottemach and the other the Baroness de Graffenreid de Villar, who before her marriage in Paris last May, was Dorothy Gould.

MAINE LIKELY TO SHARE IN MUNSEY RICHES

Native State to Be Burying Place of Millionaire Publisher

New York, Dec. 26.—Some of the millions made by Frank A. Munsey, newspaper and magazine publisher, who died early this week may find their way to Maine institutions and charities, in the surroundings where he was born and raised.

The late publisher's estate, according to estimates of his friends, will approach $40,000,000. Some of his friends quoted Mr. Munsey as saying shortly before his death, "I came to New York with $40 and I am now worth $40,000,000."

Mr. Munsey's body was removed yesterday from the Church of St. John the Divine, where funeral services had been held, to Woodlawn Cemetery. There it will be in a vault until next Spring, when it will be taken to the family home plot in Isleon Falls, Me.

Public benefactions of Mr. Munsey's papers, in the chapel of St. Augustine in the cathedral.

Mr. Munsey, it is said, spent more than $20,000,000 in the acquisition and maintenance of his New York newspaper properties, including $1,000,000 for the purchase of the old Daily News; $1,000,000 for the Press; $2,000,000 for the Mail; $2,000,000 for the Globe; $4,000,000 for the morning and evening Sun, and $4,000,000 for the Herald including the Evening Telegram and the Paris Herald.

This represented an investment of $14,000,000, and he is said to have invested $6,000,000 for the conduct of the papers, making a total investment of $20,000,000. Mr. Munsey sold the Herald and the Paris Herald to the Tribune for $1,000,000, showing a $1,000,000 profit on that investment. The Sun and Telegram, it is said, would bring $15,000,000 if sold, showing a profit on his New York newspaper ventures.

FUR SALON—SECOND FLOOR

The Plan

You select your coat now, wear it all the rest of this season, store it in our vaults free during the Summer, and have it ready again next Fall when you want it.

Pay in 10 Equal Monthly Payments

By this plan, you will have the coat paid for by next Fall, and off your mind, with nothing to do but enjoy it.

Past experience shows that women appreciate the plan of dividing payments up into ten equal sums, payable monthly, thus distributing the cost so that it does not become a burden.

The sale offers splendid savings—this is the logical time to buy—prices are at their lowest at this time of year, and you will own a finer fur coat, at a lower price, than you would any other way.

'NEW CRUSADE' OPENS TUESDAY IN SOMERVILLE

Rev. Dr. George Wood Anderson Will Conduct 6 Weeks' Religious Campaign

"The New Crusade" begins Tuesday when Rev. Dr. George Wood Anderson, noted evangelist, goes to Somerville to conduct a six weeks' campaign of religion.

Volunteer workmen, numbering prominent ministers and leading citizens of Somerville, have put the finishing touches to the huge wooden tabernacle which will be used to house the great mass of people who will gather nightly to hear Dr. Anderson preach.

This edifice, at Holland street and Broadway, West Somerville, is built of unpainted lumber, with a seating capacity of 3,500. Thirty stoves donated by Somerville citizens will supply the heat for the great tabernacle.

HE SERVED OVERSEAS.

Dr. Anderson, who will conduct two services daily (Monday except ed) during the campaign, was born in Belle Center, Ohio, Dec. 8, 1873. He was graduated from Wesleyan University in 1895, and during the same year was ordained a minister. Dr. Anderson served as pastor of several prominent churches until 1915 when he became interested in evangelistic work, and has since toured the country in the interest of "The New Crusade." During the war years, he served overseas with the A. E. F.

Rev. Dr. Frank M. Swaffield, chairman of the committee of ministers in charge of the biggest religious movement that Somerville has ever known, said:

"No special form of divine worship will be followed during the six weeks of Dr. Anderson's evangelistic meetings. This movement is sponsored by all of the Protestant clergy in the city with the idea of reaching all classes of people in Somerville and adjacent towns.

EVERYBODY WELCOME.

"There will be no denominational line, and everybody who attends will be given a cordial welcome.

"While Dr. Anderson does not wax dramatic, nor resort to tragic gesticulations, pounding and shouting during his sermons, he points out the moral truth in such a forcible way that it is bound to take effect. He has the faculty of putting things and conditions before his audience in just the right manner, and above all he is persuasive.

"We look for overflow meetings every night during the entire six weeks of the crusade, and cannot help but feel that everybody who attends will reap some spiritual benefit."

Miss Bowry to Marry Doctor

Mrs. E. W. Bowry announced the engagement of her daughter, Beatrice Bowry, to Dr. Charles Hugh Allman on Christmas Eve, at a dinner given at No. 2 Rollins place, Beacon Hill.

Beatrice Bowry

Miss Bowry is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bowry of King Philip road, South Sudbury, and is a graduate of Normal Art School, class of 1923, where she studied costume designing, later continuing her studies in New York.

Dr. Allman is the son of J. I. Allman of Roanoke, Va., and was graduated from the University of Virginia and the Medical School of that university in 1923. At present he is on the staff of the United States Naval Hospital at Chelsea.

MONTREAL MAN SETS A RECORD IN $25,000 TEST

Accountant Brings Imposing Patriotic Altar; Is Champion Long-Distance Contestant

J. A. Shamessy, No. 1407 Notre Dame street, Montreal, P. Q., qualified as champion long-distance contestant in the annual Advertising $25,000 Test, which was conducted by the Montreal Star. Mr. Shamessy's qualifications were received.

Mr. Shamessy undertook to answer correctly 14 questions printed in the newspaper each Saturday for a period of twelve consecutive weeks. He was required to submit a portrait of himself, five per cent. of subscription fee, two per cent. of which was to be sent to the newspaper. Duplicate answers were also required. That's the story for the week, and it's all finished. Mr. Shamessy's portrait, packed away in a special tin box, was opened some days ago.

STANDARD OIL of California has begun to market Standard Oil of Nevada gasoline in the Pacific coast states. Standard has absorbed Pacific Oil. Until recently Standard Oil controlled its own pipeline from the mid-continent fields and thus it would come in long, cheap and sell the oil in California. Now Pacific Oil, formerly independent, transports independent gasoline. Now Standard means to own the gasoline from the well up.

SO STANDARD of Indiana absorbs Pan American. Then Standard of New Jersey took in Magnolia Oil and reincorporated Chesebrough with a new capitalization. Now Standard of California takes in Pacific Oil, producing almost parity in crude and refining to broaden Rarer Coast domain.

WISE CALIFORNIANS feel more long owned Pacific Oil will hold on to its own stock. It will take more of them. To know that the Rockefeller organization is working for you is not a thing to go to sleep at night. Heads Pacific Oil to this writer, "Standard Oil is the best managed business in the world, and Ford is a judge of business management."

FRANK MUNSEY'S fortune will amount to at least forty millions, he thinks say. It would have been larger had he not lost twenty millions in newspaper properties, which Munsey's own papers put, came from his pocket. He sold no newspaper stock to the public and his losses were his own business.

IN THE SPRING, Frank Munsey's boat will be taken back to Palm Beach. Maine, where he owns farm stores, cars, and a home, is closed. That's the story for the winter. We leave forty degrees in the shade. But it is a sensational theory of us to say anyone wishes is not important once we have passed.

THE SAYA CARLOTTE entered the service of a French family in Mexico, returned with them to France, and lived in service there for the next 116, but was warned as a domestic for the same family through several generations of servants, a period lasting for 58 years. She is retired.

THAT AMAZES US, as there are tribes of ants that have taken care of their parasites from mother to daughter, through thousands of centuries, a period longer than the time of man's existence on earth.

The person to admire is not good Saya Carlotte, but the young man of woman that carries women for a while, then goes on "self-makes a business for himself or herself."

OLD SMOKING JACKET BACK IN NEW FORM

Elaborate Affair Is Promoted From Living Room to Drawing Room

By EDWARD M. RUTTENBER, Universal Service Style Expert.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—In practically every American household a generation back the old cellar door was fitted with clothes hooks and there, year in and year out, hung at least one trusty smoking jacket.

Some of these garments began life in a gorgeous sort of way, but soon or late they came to rest behind the cellar door and were succeeded in the family living room by later holiday tokens of like nature.

BUT NO FUTURE.

Worn in the living room, the smoking jacket was a uniform; donned back of the cellar door, it was a livery. The head of the family donned his cast-off smoking jacket when he was required to roll out the ashes or shovel a path through the snow to the highway. Smoking jacket had presents and paste—but no futures.

* * *

TODAY things are slightly altered in favor of the smoking jacket as an institution. It has been included in the general uplift and now finds itself promoted from the living room to the drawing room class. The garments are much more elaborate than in former days and are part of the habiliments of the man-about-town rather than the care-free wage earner who was always at home o' nights unless lodge meeting took him to some fraternal temple.

BRIGHTEST OF SILKS.

The smoking jacket is being worn in many of the smart society dramas in New York this Winter as an accessory much favored by the man accustomed to dinner and dress clothes and is garniture of no mean order.

The old smoking jacket was a woolly sort of an affair with pleated lapels and sometimes frogs adorned the facade. In the smoking or lounge jacket of today the brightest of silks are employed or the richest of velours. Gay figures on dark grounds are immensely popular.

* * *

IT can no longer be said that the smoking jacket is the sartorial bane of the wage slave. The man who wears the new smoking jacket is usually the captain of his own soul and master of many others. In fact, it might be said that the smoking jacket is in society, for the first time in its career. It is a roystering affair rather than a mouse-like garment for mouse-like men. The smoking jacket, as we know it today, is stepping out.

NOW IN QUALITY ROW.

The 1925 holidays carried the smoking jacket out of the doldrums and established it on Quality Row. With many men the rich, brocaded smoking jacket has taken the place of the three-quarter house-robe, to which it is related to the extent of being a small brother. The smoking jacket is now traveling with the old Knickerbocker families; the men who play golf, to be more explicit.

* * *

ATTIRED in the new creations, meek men feel like rascals and enjoy the thrill. Equipped with a novel of the risqué sort and given the proper background of soft lights and incense, the stay-at-home is by no means as badly off as he was in the drab days preceding the costume play, the costume saga and the costume domestic drama, the last-mentioned being the one in which he figures so extensively.

REALLY RICH ROBES.

The new smoking jackets are really rich robes. The variety of rich fabrics employed in making the new smoking jackets is almost endless. One pays his money and takes his choice. The point is that a man with the smoking jacket habit need no longer feel that he is in the chimney corner and carpet slipper veteran corps. He has been born again.

The Saddest Business in the World Is Being Funny, Asserts Leon Errol

By MARY DALE

BEING funny is the saddest business in the world. One of the funniest men in the world says so himself.

"I wish," Leon Errol said in his dressing-room at the Tremont Theatre, where he is busy being funny as Louie the 14th, "that I could go on the stage and gloom and philosophize and theorize and soliloquize and lament and say 'Lackaday' and 'Ah, woe is me!'and be resolutely tragic for a while instead of doing leg falls and wise-cracking!

"I'm a very sad man," he twinkled pleasantly as he toyed with a stock of grease-paint. "Sometimes I'm so blue that I feel like writing letters of condolences to all my friends and clipping the obituaries out of the newspapers.

"And what makes me so sad? Why, because I have to work so hard and then get laughed at. I work to get the laughs and then don't get any credit for working. People say, 'Gee, you must have a great time, just going on and clowning and pulling down all the laughs and a lot of the money.'

"Just going on and clowning is the result of a lot of work and a powerful deal of thinking. And the longer you work and think about it, the harder it gets because you realize how much easier it is to fail than to succeed.

"Your heart has to be touched before your laugh is genuine—and that is true of any sort of comedy.

"Oh, yes, this is a very sad business, all right. You can get a tear out of people a lot easier than you get a laugh out of them. That's why I'm looking around for a nice grim little tragedy to play in for a vacation. Something with black on yet bandages and plenty of gloom."

XMAS HOOTCH PUT 44 IN HOSPITAL

New York, Dec. 26.—Forty-four victims of poison liquor writhed on hospital cots today as the toll of Christmas drinking here. They refused to heed the warning of prohibition enforcement authorities that 94 per cent. of the liquor sold in New York was not fit to drink.

None of the victims will become blind, physicians said, although some were totally unconscious. stomach pumps and antidotal injections were used to revive them.

WALLET WITH $1,000, LOST IN 1923, RETURNS ONLY $10 SHY

New Britain, Conn., Dec. 26.—In 1923 Mrs. Stanley Krisenas lost a wallet containing $1,000 the money her husband received as his interest in a small store. The wallet and the money disappeared suddenly, the police were notified, but nothing developed. Financial troubles followed.

Christmas this year had no such sadness for Mrs. Krisenas and her family. Things haven't been going well. It was pretty gloomy around the Krisenas household.

Then the postman came bearing a small package. In that package were $10 in bills. The package had no return address. There was no communication—nothing in the box but the crisp bills.

Mrs. Krisenas believes that the person who found her wallet in 1923 had a touch of conscience and got relief by sending the money back.

The Krisenases believe Santa Claus.

STOCK MARKET HOLIDAY RARE ON WEEK-END

Cessation of Trading for Extra Days, Since War, Seldom Ordered

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

There was no session of the New York Stock Exchange, the world's greatest security market, yesterday. The Boston Stock Exchange, together with the curb and other exchanges also was closed.

Weekend holidays, as well as extra stock market holidays, have been rare since the great war.

The bull market of 1918 saw extra holidays frequently declared to enable brokers to catch up with their accounts, but the present bull market has witnessed late working for this same purpose. Petition after petition for extra holidays has met with denial.

Therefore the granting of the petition for an extra holiday yesterday caused considerable surprise. As the shutdown on a Saturday eliminates only two hours of actual trading, not a great deal in the way of commissions was foregone as Wall Street's most prosperous year draws to a close.

BANKS STAY OPEN.

National banks are forbidden by law to close on any but legal holidays. Accordingly they were open for business as usual yesterday, but mostly with reduced working forces.

Ordinarily the period preceding Christmas has been a quiet one in the security markets, but this year has proven itself the exception in this regard as well as in many others. Million-share days, not so long ago regarded as extraordinary, have become almost a regular thing. Indeed, a day in which there is a turnover of only a million shares would now be regarded as a quiet session.

The current years has seen some days in which more than 2,000,000 shares changed hands, and new high records for all time in the matter of turnovers have been set.

In the pre-Christmas holiday session more than half a hundred representative issues sold up to new highs for the year, while new highs were also registered on the Boston Stock Exchange.

The market gave every outward indication of being in a position for a further advance in the averages. Selling, whether for bear accounts or for profit-taking that would commonly be expected on the eve of triple holiday, was readily absorbed, especially in the California oils and rails.

PROMISE IN COPPERS.

While there is a great deal of hurrahing about the railroads, the oils appear to be in a much better technical position marketwise. The good rails have already in most cases enjoyed very substantial advances, so that the oils are preferred by many shrewd buyers as a group.

The coppers are the one group that, with the exception of two or three leaders, like Kennecott and Anaconda, have not had any great advance. Much money will be made in the low-priced copper issues if we enjoy the market for red metal shares that a lot of students of the market now say is coming.

The outlook in the red metal market is such that it is not inconceivable that coppers might as a group be enjoying advances even though the rest of the market were selling off.

Why Girls Smoke Cigarettes To Please Men, Says Miss McAuliffe

MISS IRENE McAULIFFE, Boston's first policewoman, who refuses to blame the girls for crime.

"As Many Male Gold-Diggers as Female," Policewoman Believes

"'GOLD digging flappers?' They're a myth. At least I've never encountered any. Girls nowadays have a hard time getting a cup of coffee out of a fellow, not to mention gold. He talks about this royal treat for four years afterwards."

So declared Miss Irene McAuliffe, Boston's first policewoman, in answer to a statement made by Mrs. Mary Hamilton, chief of New York's policewomen, who claims that "gold-digging flappers are responsible for crime and a girl today is a luxury."

To Please the Men

"I refuse to blame the girls for crime," said Miss McAuliffe. "It is true they are wearing abbreviated clothing, and some of them smoke and take a drink. But why? Not because they want to, or not to please some other woman, but to please the men. No woman ever dressed to please another woman.

"A short time ago only the corner loafers smoked cigarettes. And not so long ago if a fellow took a girl out to dinner and ordered a drink that was the last time she went out with him. Both sexes have changed their standards somewhat since then, I regret, but why should the men blame the girls for smoking cigarettes when they do it themselves and think it all right?

"Cigarette smoking is not a question of morals, but of manners. I don't like to see a girl smoke. When girls ape the manners of men they lose their feminine charm. They don't care for liquor or cigarettes. They think their escorts find it attractive and so take a cocktail or smoke.

And then, when the poor girl goes wrong, she's the one that pays, and pays and pays every time, no matter how high her social standing.

"I hate the term 'gold digger.' But if we must use that expression, I will say there just as many male gold-diggers as female. If some men can't get a girl with money, they will marry one for social position. The men have gone socially crazy.

"The first and principal cause of crime is poor home conditions. I mean irresponsible parents. There are thousands of parents who think that they have nothing to do but bring a number of children into the world and let them shift for themselves. Sometimes both parents are out working so hard for the almighty dollar that they do not give the children the care they are entitled to. If the mother does not go out to work, she often just lets the youngsters drift on.

"Too Much Money"

"Later on—in the case of the middle class—young people become involved in crime because they are given too much money to spend and because nearly every family maintains an automobile. Instead of calling at the girls' home for the evening, a boy drives up to her door in a car, honks the horn, and they are off for some road house or to ride around and park. What can be expected of such actions?

"I wonder, though, that young girls don't get into more trouble. The public would be amazed at the number of men of a certain type who annoy girls in motion picture houses, theatres, subways and railway stations. I watch them day in and day out, and know. I surely do not place the blame on the girls for the present crime wave."

Rites for Mrs. Lennon

Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Monica's Church, South Boston, yesterday, for Mrs Euphonia X. Lennon, mother of Edward G. Lennon, Boston newspaperman.

CHICAGO OPERA CO. OPENS JAN. 25

"Resurrection," opera by Alfano, will be the novelty in the forthcoming engagement here of the Chicago Opera Company, to open at the Boston Opera House January 25. The repertoire will include many old favorites, including two Wagner revivals, "The Valkyries" and "Lohengrin."

Mary Garden will sing the leading role in "Resurrection," with Georges Baklanoff, Fernand Anseau, Augusta Lenska, Marie Claessens and Theodore Ritch, Mr. Moranzoni conducting.

Other operas in the repertoire are: "Andrea Chenier," "Carmen," "Traviata," "Rosenkavalier," "Thais," "Marriage of Figaro," "Masked Ball," "Falstaff," "Pelleas and Melisande," "Herodiade," "Manon Lescaut," "Samson and Delilah" and "Trovatore."

The committee which makes the production of opera here possible includes practically the same group that has sponsored similar projects in previous years.

NEW CRISIS IN PARIS DEBT PLAN

By HARRY R. FLORY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, Dec. 26.—New difficulties loom ahead for M. Doumer, the minister of finance, today, when members of the Chamber of Deputies, including the left bloc, approve a financial project in many respects diametrically opposed to the ideas put forward by M. Doumer.

The financial plan had been drawn up by a committee representing the left block, and was unanimously approved at a meeting of the deputies composing the bloc. The plan will be presented to the Chamber of Deputies next Tuesday.

Besides for a program of revenue which will effect economies aggregating 800 million francs, it would be a complete revision of existing tax schedules. Provision is made for pension increases for those who fall to pay taxes levied on transactions on the Bourse.

Holds Job That Isn't, so Can't Get City Pay

Fall River, Dec. 26.

J. ERNEST PELOQUIN, employed in the Public Welfare Department, is in the unique position of having worked for the city for more than four months without having drawn one cent of compensation.

The city now owes him over $800, and the city auditor has refused to approve his name on the payroll.

Since September the Committee on Ordinances has forgotten to act on an ordinance creating a position requested by Mayor Talbot, to which Peloquin was appointed.

Chicago, Dec. 26—A monkey she was feeding in his cage at Lincoln Park bit off the tip of one of Caroline O'Neill's fingers.

DEMOCRATS SPLIT IN FALL RIVER

Fall River, Dec. 26—Fine spirit among Democratic aldermen, predicted after the primaries when Mayor Talbot mixed in the family fight, has come.

The test of voting strength was when the application of former Supt. of Streets Manning for a gasoline filling station permit was taken up, and the opponents of the measure downed it by a vote of 13 to 10. There it was found three Democrats had deserted the administration.

Since the primaries there has been more than one sore spot among members of the board who were nominated and elected or reelected in the face of the administration's opposition. These aldermen have decided to make things lively next year and already have started on the warpath.

Belgian Women's Rights

Brussels, Dec. 26.—Belgian women have started a movement for the abolition of certain sections of the Belgian code of laws, which express the inferiority of women.

The Royal Purple

For many centuries dyeing fabrics was a closely guarded secret and in ancient days crimson and purple were worn only by kings. During the Great War America mastered the art so thoroughly that today the products of American manufacturers, and the development of the manufacture the American Woolen Company contributed a large share.

The Case of Six Children

Helped by Travelers' Aid

As Told by Olive Jaques

By BEATRICE BRICE

ON the same train pulling in to the South Station is perhaps one distinguished person and a score of bewildered (and undistinguished) persons. Each, though it is generally not known, is met by a reception committee.

To "T. A." it matters not whether an incoming stranger is draping a necklace of diamonds, or a suit of pots and pans she has been doing her cooking in coming over in the steerage.

They Had Just 50 Cents

"T. A." is the popular name for the Travelers' Aid Society, of which former Governor Channing Cox is president and Olive Jaques is [illegible] secretary.

"As an example of the work we do," Miss Jaques said this morning in the South Station, "take the case of six children. One of them [illegible] arrivers met the New York train in the South Station and found a family of six youngsters [illegible] alone all the way from Poland and who had not the slightest idea [illegible] the place to which they were going.

"The oldest, 12, had been sent at the other five all the way across Europe, over the Atlantic and from New York to Boston. The youngest [illegible] in ages from [illegible] down to 4. And when they landed in Boston they had just 50 cents.

$5,000 Helped Yearly

"They had gone over to Poland with their parents from this country. They were born in America of Polish parents, and [illegible] mother was sending them back here to their father, who had been working in Boston. But he, meanwhile, had left for a job up in the country. We located him and got the children to him.

"We take care of approximately 35,000 persons every year.

"In both the North and South [illegible] there is a large desk in the corner at which a kindly-mannered woman is watching for those who are brought to her. The [illegible] are constantly leading up to her desk girls who have just got off the train and don't know where to look for a good home and a job, children who have run away from home to find Santa Claus or [illegible] or [illegible] Mayor of Boston, other children who have been shipped from a distant point by one relative to be met here by another who failed to show up.

The Major Cases

"The work of the 'T. A.' is divided into three parts. First there are the people to be looked after who are confined in a strange city, people who are economically able to get along by themselves but who want a bit of friendly advice as to where to go and how to get there.

"The second division is to give immediate assistance to strangers. And the third, the important division, is to look out for what they call the 'major cases' of actual need.

"An important phase of the work is to protect strangers who, because of lack of knowledge of the language and the customs of the country, are apt to be fleeced by unscrupulous people.
